

Blogger Events at AALS 2008

CALI and Berkman invite law professor bloggers to two special events we are hosting at this year's meeting of the Association of American Law Schools in New York City.

Open Blogger Meetup @ AALS 2008

Casual chats among blog authors and readers

What:	A casual meeting space where you can meet up with your readers and with each other to share ideas . Chairs, sofas, and cool vibe included.
When:	Thursday, January 3 – Saturday, January 5 Sign up for one-hour slots on your own or with sister blogs.
Where:	The CALI booth in the Exhibit Hall.
Who:	Law professors who blog and the readers who love them .

Beyond Scholarship Luncheon

How blogs advance legal education

What:	A private lunch for you to catch up, swap ideas , and discuss our role in advancing legal education .
When:	Thursday, January 3 12:30-2:00pm
Where:	Bar Americain, New York City (a New York Times top pick 2 blocks from the AALS convention site)
Who:	Law professors who blog . If interest exceeds available seats, participants will be selected to maximize blog diversity but otherwise on a first-come, first-served basis.

RSVP for or direct questions about either event to Gene Koo at vkoo@cali.org or 617.384.9136. Please RSVP by December 21, 2007.